American academic dress had its origin in the garments worn at medieval British universities, particularly Oxford and Cambridge. Because of the close connection between the University and the Church, students and faculty wore clerical garb. It is from these medieval, cassock-like garments that American academic dress is derived.

The black mortarboard cap is adorned with a black tassel for holders of the associate, bachelor and master degrees. A gold tassel signifies the wearer has received a doctoral degree, or is a governing officer of an educational institution.

The associate's and bachelor's gowns are simple and may be recognized by long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown is fuller and the sleeves are square at the ends. The doctor's gown is more elaborate and has sleeves decorated with three horizontal velvet bars.

The hood is the most distinctive feature of academic attire. Used originally as a cowl, it is worn suspended from the shoulders. The length of the bachelor's hood is three feet; the velvet border, two inches. The hood for the master's degree is three and one-half feet long with three-inch border. The doctor's hood is four feet long; the border, five inches wide. The lining is colored with the official color of the institution conferring the degree. The border color indicates the field of learning in which the degree was earned.

Hoods worn by Niagara County Community College degree candidates display the blue and gold college colors on a background of white or gold. Candidates for the Associate in Arts Degree wear hoods with a white background. Hoods worn by Associate in Science and Associate in Applied Science Degree candidates have a background of gold.

Dr. Samuel B. Gould, Chancellor
Dr. Sebastian V. Martorana, Vice Chancellor for Two-Year Colleges
Dr. Earl L. Butz, a distinguished educator, is Dean of Continuing Education at Purdue University, and Vice President of Special Projects for the Purdue Research Foundation. He was Assistant Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, D.C., in charge of marketing and agriculture for a three year period during the Eisenhower administration.

A native of Indiana, Dr. Butz received his baccalaureate and doctoral degrees at Purdue University where he subsequently served as Chairman of the Purdue Department of Agricultural Economics before becoming Assistant Secretary of Agriculture. He has contributed to America’s well-being in an impressive number of educational and governmental capacities, and was twice Chairman of the United States Delegation to the United Nations’ Biennial Conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome. Dr. Butz has also served on the Advisory Commission of the United States Export-Import Bank, the Canadian-American Committee of the National Planning Association, the Foundation for American Agriculture, and was on the research staff of the Brookings Institute in Washington, D.C., and the National Bureau of Economic Research in New York City.

He is the author of a widely acclaimed book relating to his particular field of interest, and has written over 200 learned articles which have appeared in both professional journals and popular magazines. He is a firm believer in the proven American virtues of free enterprise, self-reliance and the profit system. The visitation of Dr. Butz as commencement speaker was made possible by a grant from the Harrison Radiator Division of the General Motors Corporation.
